Commentary

The North American financial markets ended the year on a strong note and that performance continued into the first month in 2011. The extension of the Bush tax cuts for all individuals in the United States for at least another two years combined with improving economic data seemed to provide the fuel for the continued rally in the month of January. The US housing market and unemployment market continue to exert a drag on the US economy. Other measures of economic activity including manufacturing activity and retail sales seemed to suggest that the economy continues to improve, albeit at a fairly modest pace. The question of whether this economic growth can become sustainable without the continued record levels of fiscal and monetary stimulus remains to be answered in the coming months and years.

The valuations of the companies in the portfolio generally remain at very reasonable levels when measured by price to earnings ratios and current dividend yields and this should continue to act as a major support at these current market prices. Many Canadian companies held in the portfolios are expected to raise their dividends over the next 6 months. The dividend income continues to be supplemented by income generated by the covered call writing program.
